AMERICAN NEWS.

Seamen from the North Atlantic Squadron Bound for Behring's Sea
on the Independence.

The U. S. House Reports Favorably
on a Bill for Shorter Hours
for Workmen.

Satisfactory Arrangements for the Shipment of American Cattle to England.

Another Vessel for Behring's Sea.
CHICAGO, July 8.—Ten seamen from the North Atlantic squadron, taken from the warships Mohican, Ranyear, Iroquois, and another detachment from the Dolphin, at Portland, passed through this city to-day, en route to San Francisco. There they will join the crew of the warship Independence and start for Behring's Straits.

To the Memory of Seamen.
BALTIMORE, Md. July 8.—A monument is being erected at the naval cemetery opposite Annapolis, to the seamen who lost their lives in the memorable storm at Apia, Samoa.
It is of rough blocks of granite, built in irregular layers. The base has been finished and awaits the pedestal. It is upon a commanding position overlooking the naval academy, Annapolis, the Severn river and Chesapeake bay. Many of the dead of the ill-fated Heron lie in that cemetery.

A Dying Senator.
NEW ORLEANS, La., July 10.—Senator
Smith is dying. His condition is so low that, with his approval, a minister was sent for this morning, who delivered a prayer at his bedside.

Supreme Lodge, K. of P.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 10.—Almost immediately after the opening of this morn-ing's session, the members of the Supreme Lodge of Knights of Pythias proceeded to the election of officers with the following result: Supreme Chancellor, G. B. Shaw, Eau Clair, Wis.; Supreme Vice-Chancellor,
W. W. Blackwell, Henderson, Ky.; Supreme Prelate, E. J. Blackmere, San Diego, Cal.; Supreme Master of the Exchequer, S. J. Filley, Wilmington, Del.; Supreme Keeper of the Records and Seal,
R. T. S. White, Nashville, Tenn.; Supreme
Master-at-Arms, G. H. Morrison, Nevada;
Supreme Secretary of the Endowment Fund, W. B. Kennedy, Cincinnati, Ohio;
Supreme Inner Guard, Dr. D. C. Barkwell,
Cheyenne, Wyo.; Supreme Outer Guard,
John H. Thompson.

The Lottery Question.
NEW ORLEANS, July 10.—When the house and senate met this morning, immediate action was taken by both houses upon the lottery question. In the senate the majority reports of the judiciary committee, declaring that the action of the governor in vetoing the bill, with amendments submitting the lottery proposition to the people, was unconstitutional and arbitrary, was adopted by twenty-three yeas to twelve nays; and by the same vote the veto message as received from the house was returned to that body. In the house, the action of the senate was sustained by a motion being adopted to reconsider the vote by which the veto message passed the house, and the bill, with the veto of the governor attached, was ordered to be returned to the senate and the house, which was done. This action of the senate and house forces the question into the courts, in which to decide whether or not the amendment to be submitted to the people, passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses, has to be sent to the governor for his approval or veto, and whether such a measure thus passed is final or not, and that it be only sent back to the secretary of state for promulgation.

Contagious Animal Diseases.
WASHINGTON, D.C., July 10.—In February last Secretary Rusk presented to the state department a report that the contagious animal diseases had been so effectually stamped out in this country as to warrant the department in urging upon the British authorities the perfect safety of removing the irksome and unjust restrictions imposed on the shipment of American live cattle and sheep to Great Britain. Secretary Rusk declares that the time had come when our diplomatic office in London should make an effort to secure this concession in behalf of one of our greatest industries.
Negotiations were at once inaugurated by the State department resulting in the removal of the restrictions relative to sheep,
contingent upon action by this government, which would prevent the introduction of diseases of sheep into this country. The British government, however, persisted in its refusal to grant any concessions regarding live cattle, alleging the continued
existence of contagious pleuro-pneumonia in the United States, and that cattle affected with this disease had been discovered in recent shipments to Great Britain from this country. Secretary Rusk met this allegation with a prompt denial and the proposition that his department should be represented in Great Britain by a veterinary surgeon charged with the duty of inspecting all American cattle landed in the country. The department of State adopted the Secretary's suggestion, and has finally effected an arrangement, through Minister Lincoln, for the appointment of three inspectors for the purpose indicated. The Secretary has already taken steps to carry out this arrangement,
and when the inspectors have been appointed, one will be stationed at Liverpool, one at London, and one at Glasgow. They will sail for Europe at once, accompanied by Dr. Solomon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, and also by a special agent.
The Secretary said to-day that the restrictions of the British government upon the importation of beef cattle from this country upon the groundless plea of the continued existence of contagious cattle disease in United States were unjustifiable, and had lasted long enough. He now proposes to prove to the satisfaction of the British authorities that no disease exists in this country to warrant these restrictions.
If maintained in spite of this evidence some other cause must be assigned for them. He

Yacht Racing.
MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 10.—As had been feared, the flat calm held back the
yachts of the Eastern Yacht Club this afternoon and prevented their getting half
way over the course, and the race was consequently declared off. The yachts, at 7:15
p. m., are all homeward bound but cannot arrive until late. As far as the race went
the Scotch cutter Minerva was being beaten
by both the Gosson and Ventura, while
the Mayflower led the schooners, and the Hawk outfooted the Shark. There are but few yachts here tonight, most of the fleet
being out with the races.

Train Accident.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 10.—As the train bearing the Mississippi excursionists who had been visiting the mines and furnaces here was about leaving Pratt's mines on the return trip to-day, a locomotive ran around a curve into the rear of the train, causing quite a smash-up. The occupants of the train had warning enough to enable them to escape, but in hurriedly jumping from the cars a number of them had their ankles sprained and sustained slight bruises. One man had his ankle broken.
The injured were brought here and cared for.

THE HALIFAX FORTS.
Very strict Orders Regarding the Fortifications Received from England.

HALIFAX, July 9.—Very strict orders regarding the forts of Halifax have been received from England by the military authorities. They are as follows: 1st. No private citizens shall be admitted to any fort under any circumstances whatever.
2nd. No naval officer shall be admitted unless on business. He must then be accompanied by a military officer. 3rd. Military officers in plain clothes are prohibited from visiting the forts. 4th. Information of any character regarding the forts must not be given to visitors. 5th. Fortifications are being erected at York Redoubt and at Mc-Nab's Island, on which fabulous sums of money are being expended. This fact, in connection with the arrival of two torpedo boats, show that the British Government are preparing for eventualities in this locality.

pared at T. N. HIBDEN & Co.'s.

Colored Catholic Convention.
CINCINNATI, July 10.—At a meeting of colored Catholics in the national convention to-day, resolutions were passed recommending that night schools be established for colored children; that Catholic children be given Catholic education; that labor organizations be asked to admit colored men, and that employers make no distinction of color; that plans be prepared to assist in abolishing the African slave trade; that the Sisters be assisted in educating colored orphans; that industrial leagues be formed;
that young men form conferences of the society of St. Vincent and St. Paul, and that the thanks of congress be tendered to Archbishop Ireland for his efforts in behalf of the colored people. The convention then adjourned to meet in Philadelphia, January 5th, 1892.

A Printers' Strike.
BUTTE, Mont., July 10.—The printers on the Miner left their cases last evening and demanded the discharge of Galley and Hall,
the telegraph editors, and Kloufe, the proof reader, because these men were objectionable. On the demand being refused, they went out. The matter has been referred by wire to arbitrator Pond of Indianapolis. The Miner was not issued to-day, and may be obliged to suspend for two or three days.

Oil Refinery Burned.
ATLANTA, Ga., July 10.—The oil refinery of the Southern Cotton Seed Oil Works near here was burned this morning;
loss $100,000. Over 200,000 gallons of oil was released and ran in a stream towards the water works of the city. The effect on the water is not yet known.

The Eight-Hour Movement.
WASHINGTON, D.C., July 10.—The House committee on labor to-day authorized a favorable report on the house bill constituting eight hours a day's work for all laborers employed by the government. Elaine submitted a report to accompany the bill, recommending its passage. The report says that the committee have given the proposed measure very careful consideration, and have listened to the arguments of the working men and their representatives, and recommend the passage of the measure. In conclusion, the report says: The question of shortening the hours of labor is being considered all over the world, and the demand for shorter hours has led to strikes with varying results. The government of the United States can well afford to set an example to the rest of the world, and accord the same hours to its laborers as it does to its clerks. The bill as reported to committee provides that eight hours shall constitute a day's work for workmen and apprentices employed by the government of the United States and District of Columbia, or by any contractor in the execution of a contract with the government, except in extraordinary emergencies, such as war; but in such cases of extra working hours they shall be paid at the rate of eight hours per day. There is also a penalty clause in the bill providing for the punishment of any officer of the government or contractor violating the provisions of the bill, by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, as the court decides.

Tobacco Warehouse Burned.
CINCINNATI, July 10.—The Globe tobacco
warehouse on Front street, between Vine and Race, owned by the Brookes and Waterfield Co., was destroyed by fire this evening. One thousand hogheads of tobacco were consumed. The loss is estimated at $130,000.

Yacht Racing.
MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 10.—As had
been feared, the flat calm held back the
yachts of the Eastern Yacht Club this afternoon and prevented their getting half
way over the course, and the race was consequently declared off. The yachts, at 7:15
p. m., are all homeward bound but cannot
arrive until late. As far as the race went
the Scotch cutter Minerva was being beaten
by both the Gosson and Ventura, while
the Mayflower led the schooners, and the Hawk outfooted the Shark. There are but
few yachts here tonight, most of the fleet
being out with the races.

Pacific Coast News.

After the Apaches.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 10.—The Apaches who murdered Robt. Hardie of Los Angeles, on May 24th, have been heard from. They stole five horses at the roundup of cattle belonging to the Head and Heart ranch. The round-up took place in Old Mexico, at a point eighty miles below the border. The fires of the Indians were seen in the Sierra Madre mountains, but they have not been on the plains for three weeks. As soon as they make their appearance, hot pursuit will be begun and continued until they are either captured or destroyed.

A Shocking Suicide.
OAKLAND, Cal., June 10.—Last evening
Mary Gillers, a German woman forty years of age, committed suicide by cutting her throat and disembowelling herself with a knife. The woman's husband left her about

Convicted of Manslaughter.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The jury in shot his wife and told the neighbors she had suicided. This was thoroughly disproved at the trial.

A Lazy Enumerator.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Thomas J.

merator, was arrested to-day for neglect of sulted in the discovery of over six hundred more names. Fitzpatrick says he found the work too laborious.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Collector
Phelps has received a telegram from Interpreter Richards, of Phoenix, A.T., stating that the 24 Chinese who attempted to cross the border have again been remanded, and will arrive here to-morrow night.

tery Advertisements.

A Druggists' Combine.
HALIFAX, N. S., July 10.—The Echo says the wholesale and retail druggists of the Dominion are talking of forming a combine to resist the recent heavy increase in prices put upon alcohol by the distillers of Canada.

Montreal's Population.
MONTREAL, Que., July 10.—The assessors
have nearly completed taking the census, and it is estimated that the returns will show that Montreal, with its adjacent suburbs, has a total population of 277,700.

The Northern Canadian Atlantic R. R.
QUEBEC, July 10.—E. P. Bender, promoter of the Northern Canadian Atlantic, who has just returned from England, says in about a month English engineers will come to Canada and commence the work of surveying ground for the proposed railway.
This railway, when built, will reduce the Atlantic navigation to four days. The track would run from Quebec across the Saguenay district to a point of the Labrador coast, probably St. Charles Bay.

Leave of Absence.
TORONTO, Ont., July 10.—Sir Alexander Campbell, lieutenant-governor, leaves on the 16th for England. During his absence
the administration will devolve upon Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt.

SARNIA, Ont., July 10.—Jas. Longhead's tents were burned to-day; loss $11,000.

Morrow, of Draper township, suicided today by drowning.

The Winnipeg Cricketers Win.
PETERBORO, July 10.—The Winnipeg cricketers won the match with Peterboro by 41 runs.

LONDON, Ont., July 10.—A petition has been entered against the return of Tooley,
the conservative member for East Middlesex.

aged 16, fell beneath a street car and was instantly killed.

Illegal Advertising.
TORONTO, July 10.—For advertising the Louisiana lottery, George Darby, manager of the News, and W. C. Bunting, manager of the Mail, were fined $20 and costs in the police court to-day.

Curling.
TORONTO, Ont., July 10.—The Grand National Curling club of America held their 33rd annual competition at Prospect Park to-day. James Malcolm, of "The Four Brothers' club," Toronto, won the belt and the champion quiting medal. A grand social reunion was held this afternoon at Victoria Park, and to night the Masonic visitors were entertained by King Solomon's Lodge.

Meeting of the Postmen.
LONDON, July 10.—Another meeting of the postmen was held in Clerkenwell Green to-night, which was attended by 3,600 men.
The speakers still talked about a general strike, and their remarks were enthusiastically applauded. There is no doubt, however, that the leaders are convinced that a strike would not be successful, and the probability of such a movement is very remote.
The secretary of the postmen's union stated that there had been between 300 and 400
dismissals by the Postmaster-General.

The American Riflemen in Berlin.
BERLIN, July 10.—The visiting riflemen were entertained at a banquet to-night. The guests included a large number of prominent persons. In addition to the usual toasts and speeches, a number of telegrams of congratulation were read. Emperor William telegraphed his good wishes, and Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, King Humbert, of Italy, and King Leopold, of Belgium, sent cordial greetings to the visitors. A party of New York riflemen paid a visit to the Central fire station today, where they were welcomed by Inspector Kraymayer. After examining the apparatus, the party visited other public buildings.

The Police and Postal Situation.
LONDON, July 10.—A cabinet council, held yesterday, devoted much of its time to the discussion of the police and postal situation, and fully sustained the action of Sir Edward Bradford and Postmaster-General Raikes. The Cabinet authorized Mr.
Raikes to resort to any means he thought it to crush the strike of the postmen, which, it agreed, must be put down at all hazards. It also dealt with the necessity of dealing summarily with any outbreak on the part of public employes, as it was shown by information to the ministry that the policemen's and postal strike is part of a concerted scheme, encouraged by politicians, to embarrass the government. It is asserted by the postmen, and not denied by the authorities, that the Postmen's Union is full of spies, who keep the government posted on all its plans, and the government has also obtained large information connecting many prominent politicians with the agitators. The blacklegs employed by Raikes assumed the duties of the dismissed and suspended men with the air of veterans, and their work has dismayed the old hands
as much as it has surprised and pleased the officials. There has been very little delay in the city deliveries to-day, but in the suburbs the service has been badly crippled.
The public, however, have readily adapted themselves to the circumstances, and in cases of urgency have posted and received their own letters at the post offices in the West End.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

A Few of the Organizations Which Have Been Established in the Province.

Facts and Figures as to Their Position, Prospects and Objects.

The following information which has been obtained by a Colonist reporter as to some of the existing secret societies may prove of interest to our readers, and will be supplemented by details regarding other organizations.

MASONIC.

Although there have been for many years considerable numbers of Freemasons in British Columbia, they first became organized in 1859. There were, about that time, established a District Grand Lodge of England and a Provincial Grand Lodge of Scotland, with their respective District and Provincial Grand Masters. The Grand Lodge of British Columbia was formed in 1871, with Dr. I. W. Powell as the first Grand Master. It had, under its jurisdiction, Lodges at Victoria, Cariboo, New Westminster, and Burrard Inlet. The Masonic Temple was erected at a cost of $12,000 to $15,000 by the two Victoria Lodges and the Royal Arch Chapter. At present there are upon the B.C. Grand Lodge list 10 chartered lodges, 3 upon the Island of Vancouver, and 7 upon the Mainland, consisting of 678 members, the standing of the order, according to the latest returns, being exceptionally good. From time to time considerable sums of money are expended in charity by the different lodges, each having its own Board of Relief, consisting of the Master and Wardens. The annual communications of Grand Lodge are held in June. Victoria-Columbia Lodge No. 1 meets in Masonic hall, in this city, on the first Thursday in each month, and Vancouver-Quadra No. 2 on the third Wednesday. The principal Grand Lodge officers are: Bro. A. McKewen, Victoria-Columbia, No. 1, M. W. Grand Master; Bro. M. Wolfe, Ashlar, No. 3, R. W. Deputy Grand Master; Bro. W. Downie, Cascade, No. 12, R. W. Grand Senior Warden; Bro. S. LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION.

Some idea of the strength and importance of the Loyal Orange Association in British Columbia will no doubt be afforded by to-morrow's demonstration at New Westminster in celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the victory of the troops of William III over those of his father-in-law, King James II. With the historical antecedents to and connected with that armed controversy the public will be sufficiently familiar. Since that time what is known as Orangism has spread abroad all over the world. The qualifications necessary to entrance into the order are, among others, membership or connection with some recognized Protestant church, unswerving loyalty to the British crown and a determination to uphold and maintain the Protestant religion. Orangism was regularly introduced into British Columbia, some ten or a dozen years ago by Mr. Brotherton, of North Saanich. There are about eighty members of the order in Victoria, and 600 throughout the province, in connection with lodges at Westminster, Vancouver, Nanaimo, Victoria, Chilliwack, Surrey, Kamloops, &c. The institution is in a very flourishing condition on the Canadian Pacific Coast. The Victoria Lodge meets on the first Tuesday in each month at Foresters' Hall, Government street, the principal officers being John Walsh, W. M. Isaac, Dep. M.; J. H. Brown, secretary; W. Clark, treasurer; Byron H. West, chaplain. A prominent member, in conversation with a member of The Colonist staff, wished to draw a particular distinction between Orangism and other secret societies. Orangism consisted, he said, of men bound together for the maintenance of a principle, while most of the others had as their motive power, the benefits that it was possible to derive by the connection.

UNITED WORKMEN.

Among the popular institutions which have been established in British Columbia is the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which, for the present, holds from the Grand Lodge of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, the membership not being sufficiently large to entitle the province to its own jurisdiction. The headquarters are, therefore, for the time being at Portland, Oregon, but so soon as a membership of 2,000 has been attained the lodges of the province will have their own District Grand Lodge. The Grand Lodge met at Astoria on the 9th inst. The objects of the organization are to give an equal position to all kinds of labor—mental and physical—and to stimulate and to foster the highest morality. It has a beneficiary insurance department, which provides that the sum of $2,000 shall be paid to the relatives or dependents of deceased members, but which is in no way susceptible of alienation to the detriment of legal heirs. There is also a further guarantee fund, out of which $1,000 is paid to the representatives of deceased members who have subscribed to it. In the case of a sick member, though there is no provision for making them allowances, the lodge pays his dues and assessments. There are lodges at Vancouver, New Westminster, Nanaimo and Victoria. The Victoria lodges are Victoria No. 19, with a membership of about 144; Master Workman

Mr. W. H. Mason; and Vancouver No. 78, membership about 70, Master Workman, Mr. R. Seabrook.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

It was no further back than January 1883 that the Pythian institution was first established in British Columbia, since which time five lodges have been inaugurated with a membership at the present time of over 500. The lodges are in Victoria (2), Wellington, Granville and Nanaimo, under the jurisdiction of a Grand Lodge for the province. The objects of the institution are of a social and benevolent character, and are well carried out by the grand and local lodge officers. The initiation fee of a candidate between 21 and 30 is $15; up to 40, $22-50 and $1 for every additional year. The dues are $1 per month, in return for which there are sick benefits of $10 per week, and a grant for funeral expenses of $75. There is a uniform rank, admission to which is fixed at $5, with dues of 50 cents a month, and in the event of sickness an allowance of $5 per week, but no funeral grant. The following are the present Grand Lodge officers: Past Grand, Chance lor, W. S. Chambers, Far West Lodge; Grand Chancellor, C. L. Dehnson, Granville Lodge; Grand Vice-Chancellor, W. A. Lindsay, Wellington Lodge; Grand Prelate, Chas. McCutcheon, Nanaimo Lodge; Grand K. of R. and S., James Crossan, Nanaimo Lodge; Grand M. Exchequer, James B. Kennedy, Royal Lodge; Grand M. at Arms, R. J. Plummer, Far West Lodge; Grand In- or Guard, D. McArthur, Wellington Lodge; Grand Outer Guard, T. Ackerman, Royal Lodge.

DISPUTED OWNERSHIP

To a Valuable Piece of Land in the State of Washington.

The Case Now on Trial—Interesting Early History of the State.

There is now on trial at Tacoma, before Judge Hanford, of the United States district court, the case of the Catholic bishop of Nesqually against Brig.-Gen. John A. Gibbon, Col. T. M. Anderson and Col. R. T. Yatoman, United States army. The suit involves the title to 430 acres of the most valuable land in Southern Washington, including the site of the only United States army post on the Northwest Pacific coast, Vancouver barracks. Careful estimates place the value of the land at a million of dollars. After the bishop filed his complaint at law the United States government asked for and obtained leave to intervene as the real party in interest. The case in itself is of vast importance, probably out ranking in this regard any yet presented a judicial tribunal in the West. Its presentation by the parties in interest and consideration by the court will involve probably a lengthy time. In his voluminous complaint the Bishop of Nesqually alleges that on the 14th day of August, 1848, the land in question was occupied as a missionary station under the direction of the Catholic bishop of Quebec, whose diocese included all the country to the westward of the Rocky Mountains, to which the king of Great Britain then laid claim. The bishop further alleges that the station so located on the land in controversy was established 1838 by two Catholic missionaries, Rev. Francis N. Blanchett and Rev. Modeste Demers, and that it continued in existence from that year up to and subsequent to the act of congress alluded to, approved the 14th day of August, 1848.

The government of the United States, on the other hand, in its answer to the complaint of the bishop, denies that the land in question was occupied as a missionary station at the time alleged in the complaint and avers that at that time it was occupied by the Hudson's Bay Company as a post for trading purposes and for a fort; and that if any priests were at any time at the post they were there as the servants of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The presentation of both sides of the case is replete with interesting history and historical events of the epoch when the territory of Oregon encompassed the then vast and unknown wilderness extending from the Mexican line on the Pacific coast far to the north in Alaska. Coupled with the testimony as documentary evidence are papers drawn by the first statesmen of their time of the United States and Great Britain. Prominent among these is the famous and historical treaty handed down into history as the Webster-Warburton compact by which the United States became possessed of the vast and resourceful country now comprising Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, theretofore claimed by Great Britain, and over which were sent out those hardy pioneers of western civilization and progress, the emissaries of the gigantic Hudson Bay Company. Ancient this celebrated treaty, the story of how Lord Warburton sent his son to investigate the country, and as the father himself is said to have put it—"See if it is worth fighting for"—is interesting. Young Warburton voyaged to the coast. It is said of his investigations that they were encompassed in an effort to win to his basket the silver hued salmon of the mighty Columbia with the aid of the conventional "fly." Of course he was unsuccessful, and in disgust he went to his father,—"the d-d country is no good!" That settled it with Warburton pere and Oregon, that was unknown but incalculably rich demesne became part and parcel of the possessions of Uncle Sam.

Glancing through the printed pages of the big volume containing the evidence in the case, the names of men noted in the history of early civilization and development are to be seen. There are mentioned those veteran campaigners, Gen. Joseph Lane and Col. Bonneville, U. S. A.; Peter Skene Ogden, then governor of the Hudson Bay company, Dr. McLaughlin and James Douglass. A bit of war record applicable to the question at issue is signed by Jefferson Davis, who was then the admired and trusted secretary of war. Letters from Lord Lyons, Hon. Louis Cass, are to be seen, and many references are made to General U. S. Grant.

"TAKE HEED, TAKE HEED!"

The Diseases of Spring are Filling Many Homes with Suffering and Sadness.

The advent of the cuckoo, the robin, and the swallow, those bright harbingers of spring, bring with them to the old and young bright visions of summer and happiness. But beautiful and bright and active as spring appears, we must not forget her hidden dangers. Yielding to her seductions, we discard our winter garb, forgetting her proverbial fickleness. A sudden change brings winter back again, and this entails a thousand colds, fevers and inflammations that too often result in death. Then, too, the poisons arising from the ground at this season soon develop fevers, headaches and diseases of every function and organ of the body. What is needed at this time is a faithful use of Paine's Celery Compound. This scientific preparation has an especial power over the diseased and debilitated condition so common at this season of the year that is possessed by no other medicine. It is not an ordinary blood purifier, nerve or bitters, but combines in a remarkable and hitherto unknown manner the power to strengthen and build up the nerves, and hence regulating the nervous system. It purifies and enriches the blood; this purified life fluid is carried to heart, lungs and brain with an impetus which removes all feeling of heaviness, weight and dullness. It aids digestion and creates appetite. It builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens weak women and tired men. You cannot afford to trifle with the symptoms of spring debility and weakness. They may not be dangerous in themselves, but should a fever, pneumonia or other serious disease attack you, you will not find the strength necessary for recovery, and death may be the unfortunate ending. Paine's Celery Compound is a purely vegetable preparation, endorsed by the best physicians and is without an equal as a spring medicine. You cannot afford to do without it.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Trouble Ahead Among the Republics Over the Proposed Confederation.

President Menendez of San Salvador Poisoned by Drugged Wine at a Banquet.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—That trouble is brewing among the Central American republics over the proposed confederation which may result in a war is manifest from the latest advices received.

The story of the death of President Menendez, of San Salvador, is given as follows: On a banquet table a small bottle of wine was set apart for the president. The guests surrounding him had bottles of a similar character. During the banquet the president complained of not feeling well and retired. He was seized with convulsions and medical aid was without avail, for within an hour he was lifeless.

General Ezeta was at once summoned, and collecting all the forces marched to the White House and took possession, causing the soldiers to proclaim him president. On the following day General Ezeta summoned the ministers of Menendez and requested them to remain in office. This the cabinet agreed to do, but in twenty-four hours General Ezeta disbanded the cabinet and selected men known to be opposed to Guatemala's scheme to secure control of Salvador.

The ring leaders of the factions who were maturing plans for Ezeta's overthrow, were dealt with summarily, and no less than thirty shot and forty exiled from the country. The garrisons are being reinforced, and San Salvador to day may be said to maintain an armed peace. The military, which had been considerably reduced during Menendez's administration, is now being reinforced by all civilians liable to military duty. Efforts are being made on the part of Nicaragua and Costa Rica to induce San Salvador to promise not to lend her aid toward any union that may be accompanied with force; and also Costa Rica has no idea of entering into a confederation with the United States of Colombia. Should this federation take place the key-note to all Pan-American enterprises will, it is said, be held by the three countries named.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—It has been rumored within the past week that the Spencer & Winchester and Remington Arms companies have received large orders for small arms from Honduras and Guatemala, and Salvador has been buying a considerable quantity of powder from the Vulcan Powder company, of St. Francisco, Salvador, only a short time before Menendez's death, received 10,000 stands of English rifles. General Ezeta is now distributing these arms among the people of Salvador, and has ordered from the Connecticut Cartridge Manufacturing Company 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

Europeans are experiencing a sense of insecurity at the unsettled state of affairs, and a like feeling pervades both Guatemala and Honduras. The British, German, French, Spanish and Italian legations have all notified their respective governments, and it will not be surprising to see men-of-war make visits at an early day to Central American waters.

HE IDENTIFIED HIMSELF.

How Senator Cullom Worked His Way Into a Convention Hall.

Senator Cullom met a newspaper man here to-day, writes a Washington correspondent, who recalled to his mind a curious incident of the National convention of 1880, in which both took part. Cullom was then Governor of Illinois, and the newspaper man was a keeper of one of the inner doors at the convention. When they met the newspaper man remarked:

"Senator, you may not remember it, but you owe me a debt."

"How is that?" asked the Senator.

"Do you remember the young man that got you into the convention on one day in 1880?"

"Why, of course I do; you are not the young man, are you? If you are I do owe you a debt, sure enough."

The conversation brought out the incident. Governor Cullom forgot his ticket one day, and when he told the outer door-keeper that he was Governor of the State the man would not believe him. Governor Cullom affected the hayseed in his manners and dress in those days. He insisted on being let in, and, finally, the guard consented to take him as far as the inner door. There he presented him to the young door-keeper, saying:

"Here is a fellow who says he's Shelby Cullom; I don't take any stock in him, but if you're a mind to let him in you can do it."

The Governor took the matter good naturedly, and assured the door-keeper that he really was Shelby Cullom.

"There's a lot of fellows that come here with just such stories as that every day," said the door-keeper. "If you're Governor Cullom you ought to have a ticket."

After some arguing, however, the door-keeper said: "I'll tell you what I'll do: You come inside and I'll tell you mighty quick whether you're a fraud or not."

The Governor said all right, and followed the young man to the platform. When they were where they could get a good look at the people sitting there the door-keeper said: "Now do you see any body you know?"

Before the Governor had time to pick out any one Bob Ingersoll saw him and called out:

"Hey, Shelby, come over here."

"It's all right, Governor," said the door-keeper, "and I'm sorry I made you any trouble, but you'll admit that I did the square thing."

"Yes, young man, you did, and I owe you a debt," said the Governor, and the incident ended until to-day.

Not that kind.

Old man—Here, Thomas, get up; it is four o'clock; the birds are all up and singing.

Thomas—Well, I don't care. If the birds want to make fools of themselves let 'em do it.

A MOONSHINER'S REVENGE.

Plot for a Sensational Novel from the Georgia Court Records.

A few years ago among the moonshiners in the Fulton County prison was Walter Blackman, says the Atlanta Journal. On the night of December 12 Blackman and Miss Lulu Hicks were to be married. The guests had all arrived, among whom was a young man named George Blakesley, who had been a suitor for Miss Hicks' hand. Blakesley was a mountaineer himself, or had been, but had lately traveled about considerably. The justice was preparing his papers and the bride and groom made their appearance from an adjoining room.

There was a sound of horses' feet upon the frozen ground outside. More guests arriving? In a few moments a dozen revenue officers armed to the teeth entered the room and placed Blackman under arrest. The bridegroom was taken to Atlanta, and there was no wedding.

At the trial Blakesley was the principal witness, and he testified as to how he had pointed out the spot where Blackman's still was located and then told the officers of the wedding.

Blackman was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment. As soon as the trial was over Blakesley hastened back to the home of Miss Hicks and told her that her lover had been sent to prison for life. For three months afterward Blakesley pressed his suit, and Miss Hicks finally married him.

It may have been Blakesley's intention to wait until the twelve months had nearly expired and to then move to some other place with his wife. At the end of six months Blackman was pardoned, and the story of the interrupted wedding had something to do with the executive clemency.

Blackman went to his home and was told of Miss Hicks' marriage. He placed a Winchester on his shoulder, rode over to where Blakesley was living, and calling him to the door, shot him through the heart. Riding hastily away he disappeared in the woods and has never since been seen.

In the Course of Their Business They Meet Queer Cranks.

"Yes, we meet many cranks," remarked a dress-maker to a Detroit Tribune reporter. "The first grade are those ladies who have dresses altered. I had some experience with one of this class not long ago. She sent for me. 'Miss X—,' she said, 'I want this dress made over. The material is very expensive and cost me four dollars a yard. I am almost afraid to let you undertake it.' 'Very well, then,' I said, rising. 'However, I think I will trust you,' she continued.

"So after the usual preliminaries of measuring and fitting I sat down to take the dress to pieces. I applied the scissors and cut the goods on the bias. With that she groaned aloud. I worked for about half an hour while she continued to get more and more nervous. At last she arose. 'I can't stand it any longer,' she said. 'I am too nervous. You must go. I can't have you work any more to-day.' So I left.

"The next day I received a note to call. 'I suppose you might as well finish what you have begun,' she said when I entered, 'but work as quickly as you can.'

"Well, I was never before so harassed. She groaned whenever I touched the scissors. The dress turned out a perfect success and fitted her splendidly. As a result the lady has taken a great fancy to me and I like her, although social gayeties have made her a partial victim to nervous prostration.

"I recall another case," continued the dress-maker. "I made a dress for a lady out of decidedly cheap material. When she tried it on she said: 'It is too long.' I took it up an inch. The next day she said: 'It is too short.' I let it down the inch. She said: 'Oh, dear, you have made it too long once more.' I took it up half an inch. Then it was too short once more. Seven times I let up and took out that half inch. At last she said: 'That is right.' It was right, because it was just as I had it at first. Yes, a dress maker needs patience."

THEATRICAL RIOTS.

Shrewd Tricks Played by an Early Schenker by the Name of Verner.

Readers of dramatic history are familiar with the well-known subject of theatrical riots. The O. P. riots, the "Bottle conspiracy" disturbance in the Dublin theater, the Macready riots at New York, with many other similar outbreaks, have often been described. But an Elizabethan forerunner of these disturbances may not be so well known, says a writer in the Cornhill. About the end of October, 1602, the London play-goers were informed by bills circulated by a rascal named Verner that on a certain Saturday evening there would be performed at a theater "on the Bankside" a play "to be acted only by certain gentlemen and gentlemen of account."

As at that time women never acted in public, the female parts of plays being taken by boys and men, such an announcement brought crowds to the theater. The charge was eighteen pence or two shillings, and Verner, when most of the money was taken, decamped with the spoil. He endeavored to escape by water, but was soon overtaken and secured. In the meantime the victims of the hoax, as soon as they saw how they had been gulled, wrecked the theater. John Chamberlain, writing to Dudley Carleton, in one of a number of letters since published by the Camden Society, says that they "revenged themselves upon the hangings, curtains, stools, walls and whatsoever came in their way, very outrageously, and made great spoils." Somewhat akin to this Verner was the conjuror who advertised that he would jump into a quart bottle at the Haymarket Theater on January 16, 1749. The theater was crammed with spectators, while great crowds, unable to gain admittance, thronged the street. The conjuror, however, did not appear, but got clear away with the receipts, and his dupes took their revenge in the usual way by a violent attack upon the theater.

AMERICAN NEWS.

The Population of St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The official rough count of the population of St. Louis, Mo., made public by the census office, to-day, makes the population of that city 148,124, an increase of 28 per cent. over the census of 1880. This makes St. Louis rank fifth in population of the principal cities. The population of Baltimore, Md., (official rough count) is 433,539.

Boston, Mass., July 9.—Prof. A. C. Died From Excitement.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9.—August Rubender had a noisy quarrel with his daughter-in-law this afternoon in front of the house of Mrs. Ann Morlock in Hied Avenue. Mrs. Morlock came out and ordered Rubender, who was intoxicated, to go away, but he turned on her threateningly and a quarrel ensued. Mrs. Morlock turned to go into her house but dropped dead on the steps. It is supposed she died from excitement, and it is not known whether Rubender struck her or not. Rubender was arrested.

The Knights Drill.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9.—Six thousand people visited Cold Springs Park this morning to see the opening of the competitive drill of the Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias. The Redcross division of St. Louis was the first to go through the manual, and they executed the commands with celerity and accuracy, and elicited considerable applause. New Albany, Indiana, came next, and they presented a fine appearance as they came on the drill grounds with their shining silver. Every move they made was accurate, and they were heartily cheered. Grand Rapids, Michigan division, followed, and as each movement was completed they were cheered to the echo. Drilling will continue during the week. The Dearborn division of Chicago being the first on the programme for to-morrow.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBIT ASSOC'N OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

THE BENEFITS WHICH HAVE BEEN derived for the last two years through the results of the industries and the products of the land being exhibited in the east, should encourage people to send in samples of all kinds, especially as through the hard work of the Provincial Exhibit Association so little trouble or expense is entailed. The following notices will prove of help in directing those who intend forwarding samples:

1. All entries to be communicated to the Secretary, in writing, on or before Monday, August 12.
2. Entries intended to compete for prizes must be made separately.
3. Exhibits to be delivered at Vancouver on or before Wednesday, August 27th, with the exception of such as are of a perishable nature, which will be received till Monday, Sept. 1st.
4. Mineral and lumber samples, or wood manufactures to be delivered at Vancouver on or before Thursday, August 18th.
5. Wheat, oats, barley, and other cereals, must be shown in quantities not less than 10 lbs. in bags. Flour, etc., in bags not less than 5 lbs.; malt in quantities of not less than 10 lbs. in bags; and field roots, such as potatoes, turnips, carrots, mangolds, sugar beets, etc., in quantities of not less than 25 lbs. each.
6. Cereals should be sent in sheaves also, as in this shape they may be used in decorating the Court. The ears should be wrapped in calico, not in paper, for better protection in transport, and cased.
7. Spring produce and fruit generally ought to be preserved, which can easily be done if the specimens chosen are put into large glass jars filled with salicylic acid and alcohol (four parts of salicylic acid two parts, glycerine five parts, alcohol pure twenty parts, water 1000 parts) and hermetically sealed. Care should be taken not to let the state of maturity of fruits and vegetables advance too much before bottling.
8. Should the exhibitor find difficulty in undertaking the bottling and preserving personally, let him forward the exhibits to Vancouver and they will be attended to, but in this case allowance should be made in choosing the samples for the time of transport to Vancouver, so that they do not arrive in too ripe a state.
9. It is especially requested that exhibitors send all the specimens in duplicate, so that exhibits can be sent to the three Exhibitions.
10. All exhibits, if addressed to

D. OPPENHEIMER,

will be conveyed free of charge by the Railway, Steamboat, Express, or other transport companies.

Exhibitors desirous of further information should communicate with the Secretary, W. D. Burdiss, City Hall, Vancouver. jly10

The 250 people who are fortunate enough to secure seats will enjoy a musical treat long to be remembered.

"The Wicked World."

Final arrangements have been made for the production of "The wicked world," on the 4th of August, by Mr. Ardrey and his pupils. The costumes, which have been ordered, will be ready in a few days. Judging from several rehearsals, the production promises as rare a treat as that afforded by Pygmalion and Galatea; the combination is good in the main, many of the members displaying powers, which, whether they be natural or acquired, well tell for themselves at the right moment, score telling. If these promises are fulfilled in the actual performance, Mr. Ardrey and pupils will add fresh laurels to their Pygmalion and Galatea laurels.

Improvements.

The old wooden verandah surrounding the Moody block, corner of Yates and Broad streets, and occupied by Mr. Arthur Holmes, hatter and gent's furnisher, is being torn down, and the place is otherwise being subjected to great improvement. Mr. Holmes has leased the adjoining store upon Broad street, and will throw the two into one in order to accommodate a large stock of new furnishings and children's goods which is now arriving. The building will be painted from top to bottom, in the new ornamental shades, and when the work of renovation is completed the appearance of that portion of Yates street in which it stands will be materially improved.

Checked.

Not long ago a special agent of the U. S. revenue service visited Victoria, and discovered, he alleged, full particulars of a smugglers' cove situated on a small island about five miles from Victoria. On this island he reported a large quantity of opium was cached, and the steamer Grace was to run the contraband drug over into the United States under cover of darkness. The steamer was, in consequence, closely watched, the intention being to seize her re-handled. She made no effort to visit the island, however, and the American officers congratulated themselves that they had checked the smugglers. Yesterday the detective paid a second visit to the island, and found his cove empty and deserted. He now thinks that the smugglers have enjoyed the laugh this time, and the checking has been all on their side.

Natural History Society of B. C.

At the last meeting of this society, the Rev. Percival Jenks gave a most interesting address upon the structure and function of leaves.

After describing their cellular formation and showing under the microscope the circular form of up in Vallisneria spiralis, Mr. Jenks explained at length the action of chlorophyll, the green coloring matter of plants, in separating carbon from carbon dioxide in the atmosphere and setting free oxygen.

The lecture was illustrated by specimens of leaves and by many beautiful experiments, showing the spectrum of chlorophyll, and its absorption of invisible solar rays.

The next full meeting of the society will be on Saturday, the 12th inst., at Shawin-gan. The next evening meeting will be at the Provincial Museum on Monday, the 14th inst., at 8 p. m., when the Rev. A. Beaudouin will read a paper on "Jade Implements."

B. C. Board of Trade.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia Board of Trade will be held this afternoon in the board's rooms, Bank of British Columbia building, at 3 o'clock. The business to be brought forward will be the consideration of the annual report and election of officers for the ensuing year.

To Be Returned.

A Seattle special to THE COLONIST, last evening, states that the Caffee boys are still in jail there, but Chief Thornton will try to send them back to Victoria to-day. It is intended on their return to take proceedings against whoever added them to the list of those who had been taken to escape from the province, and whom their evidence will be required to convict.

And It Stopped the Cars.

At about 5 o'clock, last evening, a pin in the engine operating the machinery of the National Electric Tramway Co. broke, stopping everything, including the four cars on the road. The damage was made good by 9 o'clock, but the cars were not again sent out. Everything will be in normal condition this morning, and traffic will proceed as usual.

Sons of England.

The usual monthly meeting of the Sons of England Benefit Society was held last night, when a large number of new members were admitted, the lodge getting fairly to work under highly favorable auspices. Rev. Mr. Holman, of Vancouver, district deputy, was present and fully posted the newly elected officers in their respective duties.

The Fly Nuisance.

Owing to the recent warm weather flies have become very troublesome and a pest to housekeepers. To obviate this evil there is an article to which the vulgarism "there are no flies on it" cannot be applied. On the contrary, they light upon and stick to it tenaciously and lingeringly. Try the sticky fly paper sold by Cochrane & Munn, drug gists, corner of Yates and Douglas streets.

A Victorian Abroad.

Capt. H. F. Behnson, delegate to the Knights of Pythias convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, who left here on the 1st inst., writes from St. Paul, Minn., July 6th, "that the city of St. Paul, Minn., is the cleanest he ever saw. Many of the streets are covered with asphaltum, the same as our Trench avenue. The residences are the finest he ever saw—without any exception. The Dispatch Block is a monster building, 14 stories high, and four-story houses are common."

Ore From the Treadwell Mines.

Among the passengers who went north on the City of Topeka for Alaska Wednesday morning was a gentleman named Daly, who has been employed by the Treadwell Mining Company to be present at the sampling of 1,000 tons of gold-bearing ore at the Treadwell mine. This ore was contracted for by Messrs. Rust, of the Tacoma smelter, while in Alaska a few months ago. The City of Topeka will bring down 250 tons of the ore on her return trip, and each of the Alaskan steamers will bring 250 tons apiece until the entire amount has been shipped.

The Lulu Island and Vancouver Electric Railway.

The Lulu Island and Vancouver Electric Railway company are making application to the City Council at Vancouver for permission to build and operate their lines on certain streets in the city so as to secure a terminus at the City Market. They propose to enter on some street in 302, down which they will go to 7th Avenue, along that avenue to the Granville street bridge, across the bridge and along Beach avenue to Burrard street, thence by that street to Hastings, along Hastings to Granville, down Granville to Cordova, along Cordova and Water to Abbott, southward along Abbott to Hastings and thence to the market on Westminster Avenue.—World.

Always Ahead.

THE WEEKLY COLONIST, issued to-day, contains sixteen seven column pages, making it by far the largest paper issued in this province. It is filled throughout with the latest telegraphic and local news, and is without question the finest record of the week's local and foreign events to be had. It is the most satisfactory method of communicating with distant friends, and as an indication of the progressive community in which we live it has no equal. Everyone having the good of Victoria at heart should send one or more WEEKLY COLONISTS to friends at a distance. There are many who do, but there should be a large increase in the papers for foreign circulation. The annual subscription is $2 per copy; postage prepaid; single copies 10 cents.

Razors in the Air.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 10.—Dispatches from Bramwell, Mo. county, say there is great excitement throughout the mining region growing out of a terrible riot occurring on the night of July 6, on the line of the Bluestone branch of the Norfolk & Western railway, and that further trouble may ensue at any time. It seems that several hundred negroes made an excursion over the road and there was a great deal of liquor on board the train. A number of fights occurred. When a few miles from Bramwell three or four negroes attempted to cut a white man's throat, and Detective Baldwin and three of his men, who were on the cars, a tempted to protect the man. They were at once attacked by about 30 drunken negroes, who broke the car seats in fragments and used the pieces as clubs. Lights were knocked out and a terrible conflict ensued, during which several negroes were killed. W. G. Baldwin was in the left side, hit on the head with a fragment of iron and terribly cut. His wounds are serious. Detective Campbell was badly hurt inside. Detective Robertson's right arm was broken. W. G. Baldwin shot a negro, who stabbed him in the shoulder and again in the arm. At Bramwell an attempt was made to arrest the negroes by citizens, which led to a second riot, but six negroes were jailed. Several of the negroes were beaten almost to death.

A Race War.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 10.—It is reported here to-night that four negroes were killed during a fight between whites and blacks in Fayette county, and that the rioting has not yet been suppressed.

The Beginning of Death.

DISEASE is the beginning of death, its approach should be met at once by appropriate remedies. In the case of cholera, the use of Burdock blood purifiers whenever a symptom of any disease of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood appear. B. B. B. is the best life preserver.

OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE

Of a Kloutchman's Intoxication—An Invitation to Attend to Honor's Love Declined Without Thanks.

One magistrate, a clerk, a chief, a sergeant, four policemen, two reporters, a dog and three of the outside public assembled at the police court yesterday in great pomp and ceremony to convict a poor, miserable looking Kloutchman of the awful sin of getting drunk. In face of such overwhelming evidence the pitiable little woman at once pleaded guilty in response to the chief's "mika poltan sit-kun." The law was satisfied and the abject creature, who had incurred its displeasure, retired to Topaz avenue, where she will have all the comforts and none of the luxuries of home for the space of one month.

It then occurred to the court that as the only item on the programme had proved so uninteresting, there could be supplied an "extra." After much mental struggle it was remembered that last Sunday Joseph Cartledge had been testing his horse in the Hill park with a view to establishing a record. The mayor and several other citizens endeavored to prevent this by stopping the horse, and the following day the press, in referring to the matter, unkindly made a puzzle out of it by asking where were the police at the time? Here the matter ended; no one having attempted to find a solution, till yesterday the court requested Mr. Cartledge's presence. He was telephoned for, but being busy he declined to come, although he had the day before received a written invitation. It is more than likely that he will be induced to attend to-day.

SEWAGE COMMISSIONERS

Endorsement of Ald. Harrison's Motion for Their Appointment—Immediate Action Advised.

"Some days ago," remarked a gentleman to a member of THE COLONIST yesterday, "I threw out a hint, which you placed, in regard to the advisability of appointing a board of commissioners for the consideration and management of the sewage question. I then spoke of the necessity and importance of leaving this question in the hands of acknowledged experts who should be responsible to the city. I see that a step in this direction has been taken. Ald. Harrison, I notice by this morning's COLONIST, has proposed the appointment of a by-law providing for the appointment of three sewage commissioners. I trust now that the step will be carried out fully and creditably, and that the council will not allow the matter to drop this time on any account. It has become quite a feature of the weekly council meetings now to receive a number of complaints regarding bad drainage, which, when reduced to actual fact, is complaint of no drainage at all. Of course this cannot last, and there is only one way of stopping it, and that is by taking a preventive course. As Mr. Palmer, the admiralty inspector, said to me on this subject: 'Make a beginning, if you only go up one street. It will then be carried on the future, as well as the present generation will see to that.' Of course there is the greatest importance attaching to the selection of a proper plan, but when that is done I agree with Mr. Palmer that an immediate commencement should be made."

ANOTHER OFFER.

This Time $250,000 Is Bid for the James Bay Mud Flats.

Ald. Harrison it was who first suggested in the council this year the idea of selling or filling in James Bay mud flats. He asserted that they were worth $100,000 to the city, and could be sold for that sum, and the bridge relegated to the past. At the time his remarks were received with incredulous comment. Since then two informal offers of much more than the amount named have been made by local speculators. Neither was made in such form that it could be acted upon, and during the last few weeks the project of filling in the flats has apparently been forgotten. To outside capitalists, however, the plan offers considerable inducements, and the enterprising men over the Sound have realized this. Yesterday, Alderman Harrison received a letter, in which was contained a proposition to buy the flats for $250,000, the purchasers building a retaining wall and giving a roadway to the city, where now is the James Bay bridge. Two of the gentlemen interested also met and conferred with him personally in regard to the project, and, as he assured them that nothing can be done in the matter without the expressed approval of the city council, it is expected that a formal offer for the flats will be made in time to receive consideration at the next meeting of the City Council.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE. The Caledonian and St. Andrew's Society of Westminster have decided to give a colossal silver cup, to be competed for annually by the lacrosse clubs of the province. The winning team will have the custody of the cup for one year, or as many years as they beat off all competitors. Handsome silver medals or badges will be given each player in the matches for the cup.

BASEBALL.

At the meeting of the Amities, held last evening, it was decided that the Shogun club could not be re-accepted, as the club mentioned, viz., the 14th inst., would have to play with the proposed Tacoma team. Favorable inducements will be offered the Tacoma professionals to try conclusions with the home team on Tuesday next, the game to be called late in the afternoon to suit the public convenience. July 26th (Saturday) was selected for a return game with the Townsends. The Mormons, from Salt Lake City, will be accommodated on or about the 9th of August. Three new members were elected, and the club was reported in a good financial position.

THE OAR.

According to the Australian journals, Kemp has greatly improved in his style of rowing and defeated McLean in a fine style for the championship. The race was against the tide. Pace for a short distance has always been regarded as Kemp's strong point, but he has shown in his last race that he also possesses good staying powers. He was not pressed over the latter part of the course, but he had to keep going to lead McLean, as the time shows—21m. 46s.—about the fastest that the course has been covered under similar conditions. Like most races rowed on the Parramatta against the tide, the scullers were separated nearly all the way, Kemp rowing down on the southern side while McLean stuck to the mid-stream against the full force of the tide. Kemp has now rowed six championships. The first was against Clifford, who challenged the Havelock sculler upon the retirement of Beach. Kemp beat Clifford easily. Then followed two races against Hanlan, who sought to regain the championship, but Kemp was too good for him, and won both races. The next contest was against the late Henry Searle, and in this race Kemp, like all others, had to suffer defeat at the hands of the phenomenon. The first to tackle Kemp for the championship after Searle's death was Matterson, who was easily defeated, and the list of Kemp's victories up to the present close with his last grand win against McLean. Kemp is getting on in years for a professional sculler, as he has reached his thirty-sixth birthday. His rowing career has extended over six years, in which time he has crowded in an immense amount of hard work. He has acquired an almost perfect style of sculling, and uses his strength to the utmost advantage. He scaled 155 pounds before the race. McLean weighed 163 pounds.

Edward Hanlan, the oarsman, has reported to the police of Toronto the theft of the massive gold medal presented to him by Lord Dufferin in honor of the former's victory over Courtney at Lachine in 1878.

The senior shell race at the Patapsco navy regatta at Baltimore was won by the Potomacs of Georgetown College. Joe Tobin, of the Pioneer Rowing Club of San Francisco and the California Tennis Club, was stroke of the winning crew. The course, a mile and a half, was rowed in 8:50.

Burglars Captured.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 10.—Two burglars, who robbed the Danbury jewelry store last night, have been captured and lodged in jail at Brewster. They give their names as G. W. Wallis, of Albany, aged 25, and A. W. Spalding, of Bridgeport, Conn., aged 23. At two o'clock this morning two officers, who had been sent to Brewster and stationed where they could command a view of the road and station, saw two suspicious characters approach. The men were ordered to halt, instead fired on the officers, who were armed, and about 25 shots were exchanged without effect. Having emptied their revolvers the men fled in different directions, both heading for the woods. A searching party started out, and at noon a searcher found one of the burglars asleep in the bushes and captured him and his share of booty.

Complaints About the Way Americans are being Taken up by the Prince of Wales.

The Rage for Magnificent Costumes Among the Ladies—High Play Among the Nobility.

LONDON, July 6.—The latest issue of Truth contains bitter complaints about the way in which Americans are taken up by the Prince of Wales, to the prejudice of English ladies, and this is only a reflection of what is being everywhere said.

Under whatever incentive, feminine toilets of this year reach an unheard-of luxury of costliness.

Natural flowers have been entirely discarded for imitation blossoms made of jewels. At a state ball on Friday evening Lady Brooke had a Nile-green satin dress veiled with transparent white silk all sewn over with scattered diamonds with sprays of smaller brilliants gushing from her mouth down over her arms.

The Duchess of Leinster had serpents of diamonds coiled all over her bodice, and others rampant on her shoulders, and chains upon chains of these precious stones were about her throat and arms. Nothing like it has ever been seen among English women before.

Although this is the coldest and rainiest summer within memory, dresses are cut lower than ever under this new regime of luxury, and the skirts are pulled so tight across the hips that there is room for only a single thin silk petticoat, with the result that all the West End physicians are doing a roaring business.

Naturally enough, all this fantastic magnificence in the female half of the aristocracy is a mere symbol of worse things among the men. Evil stories are in the air about an occurrence at Newmarket this week, where the silly young Lord Dudley invested over $100,000 in horses within an hour and the Prince of Wales won heavier sums at baccarat from him and others of his kind than men like to contemplate.

NEWS OF THE ORIENT.

Russia Takes Possession of a Small Island Off the Coast of Corea.

Elections for the House of Peers in Japan—Mrs. L. A. Large Returns to Canada.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The steamship Gaelic arrived this morning, twenty-five days from Hong Kong and fourteen days from Yokohama.

The Japan Mail states that a rumor was prevalent that Russia had seized an island off the coast of Corea and that the English ships Leander and Severn were under orders to keep up steam and be ready to proceed to sea at a moment's notice if required. The Japan Gazette states that H.M.S. Palos left Nagasaki suddenly June 9 for Ninsen, Corea, and that it was probable that the United States steamer Omaha would go on to Corea from Kobe.

The steamship Tai-Sang, from Hong Kong to Shanghai, which went ashore at Swatow June 6, was gotten off and repaired, and was expected at Hong Kong June 12.

The first elections for the house of peers under the new Japanese constitution took place June 3, some forty-four members being returned. Twenty-two of these are farmers by occupation, fifteen are merchants, and only one is a noble.

At Olaka, Japan, fifty-nine people were drowned June 15th during the launching of a new sailing vessel. The occasion excited considerable interest, and about 200 people crowded on board the boat. The owner, Mr. Kim, however, became apprehensive and ordered 100 of them ashore. When the launch commenced it was ebb tide, and as the ropes used in securing were too short the vessel keeled over, the people on board immediately rushed to the other side, which had the effect of turning the vessel completely over, and those on board were precipitated into the water. A terrible scene ensued. Those on shore rendered every assistance possible, but their efforts were generally unavailing. Fifty-five bodies have been recovered, and four persons are still missing. About twenty persons were more or less injured. The vessel was found to have had the bottom badly injured.

Among the arrivals by the steamship Gaelic was Mrs. L. A. Large, widow of Rev. L. A. Large, the missionary who was murdered in his house at Azabu, Japan, on April 4 last. The lady is on the way to her home in Toronto, Canada, on a visit. She stated that a large tobacco pouch was found, having been dropped by the robbers. The owner of the pouch is now behind the bars in Tokio, and out of several arrests the police are satisfied that the other robber will be apprehended.

A GOOD BEAR STORY.

But Unfortunately It Has a Very Sad and Unsatisfactory Ending.

Many years ago a New Hampshire boy found a very young bear cub near Lake Umbagog, and carried it home with him. It was fed and brought up about the house of the boy's father, and became as tame as a dog, says the New York Ledger. Every day its youthful captor had to go to school at some distance, and by degrees the bear became his daily companion. At first the other scholars were shy of the creature's acquaintance, but ere long it became their regular playfellow, and they delighted in sharing with it the little store of provisions which they brought for their day's sustenance in small bags. After two years of civilization, however, the bear wandered to the woods, and did not return. Search was made for him, but in vain.

Four succeeding years passed away, and in the interval changes had occurred about the school alluded to. An old dame had succeeded to the ancient master, and a new generation of pupils had taken the place of the former ones. One very cold winter day, while the school-mistress was busy with her humble lessons, a boy chanced to leave the door half open on his re-entrance, and suddenly a large bear walked in. The consternation of the old lady and her boys and girls was unspeakable. Both school-mistress and pupils would fain have been "abroad," but the bear was in the path, and all that could be done was to fly as far off as possible, and hide behind the benches.

But the bear troubled nobody. He walked quietly up to the fire-place and warmed himself, exhibiting much satisfaction in his countenance during the process. He remained thus about a quarter of an hour, and then walked up to the wall where the provender bags and baskets of the pupils were suspended. Standing on his hind feet he then took hold of these successively, put his paws into them and made free with the bread, fruit and other eatables therein contained. He next tried the school-mistress' desk, where some little provisions usually were; but finding it firmly shut, he went up again to the fire, and after a few minutes' stay before it he walked out by the way he came.

As soon as the school-mistress and her pupils had courage to move, the alarm was given to the neighbors. Several young men immediately started after the bear, and as its track was perfectly visible in the snow, they soon came up with it and killed it. Then it was that, by certain marks upon its skin, some of its pursuers recognized in the poor bear no enemy, but an old friend of their own recent school days. Great regret was felt for the death of the creature. It was like killing a human friend rather than a wild animal.

Abrast of the Times.

"I saw your ma this morning," said the first little girl as they met on Woodward avenue.

"Did you?"

"Yes, and I see that her hair is different from what it was."

"Yes, she's bleached it again."

"What for?"

"Why, she kept that maple sugar color all winter, but now that strawberries have come in she has changed it to keep up with the times."

A DIPLOMATIC DRAMA.

How Count Skouvaloff Laid a Trap for an English Foreign Secretary.

Washington letter in the Baltimore American: Speaking about the Russian treaty and the principles involved in the treaty, I am reminded of a good story which was recently told me by a native connected with the Russian legation. It illustrates the remarkable detective qualities of the officers of the Russian army and navy, and shows how an important movement in war strategy was made by the use of detective ability on a social occasion.

In 1876, during the Russian-Turkish war, the sympathies of the English Government were on the part of the enemies of Russia. At that time there were in England two rival chiefs—namely: The famous Disraeli (Lord Beaconsfield) and the Grand Old Man, Mr. Gladstone. The former was in power, and the latter striving to oust him out of power. Lord Beaconsfield sounded the key-note throughout Great Britain that through the successes of the Russian arms in the Balkans the British interests were in danger, while on the other hand the Grand Old Man made speeches that "the Turks must go, bag and baggage, out of Europe."

Each and every success of the Russian arms in Turkey so alarmed the Tory Government that it was resolved at last in a Cabinet meeting to aid the Turkish Government in arresting the victorious Russians from marching on Constantinople, and negotiations were opened with the Turkish Government for that purpose. This came to the ears of the famous Count Skouvaloff, the then Russian Ambassador to the Court of St. James, who was determined, in order to find out more fully of the nefarious designs of England on Russia, to give a quiet dinner party in honor of the English Foreign Secretary, Lord —.

Invitations were accordingly sent out, and Lord — accepted the same. Here followed the strange story. Count Skouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, set out a table at that dinner party in a superb manner, the plates and other accessories of the costliest value. Lord —, being the guest of honor, sat at the right of the Russian Ambassador. During the repast the Secretary, who is well known as a kleptomaniac, helped himself to the costliest spoons, salt-cellars, etc. This was observed by the steward, who, with amazement, informed the Russian Ambassador. He said that the Foreign Minister, his guest, had stolen some of the best ware from the table.

"Hold on!" said Count Skouvaloff. "Don't say any thing. Keep quiet, for we have bagged the enemy."

The dinner was over finally, and the party retired to an adjoining room for the purpose of smoking. Count Skouvaloff inquired of Lord — of the truth of the report that the English Government was going to send a fleet to the Bosphorus for the purpose of arresting the forward movements of the Russian army in the Balkans and aiding the Turk. Naturally, the English Foreign Secretary had little to say on the subject.

On the departure of Lord — the Russian Ambassador escorted him to his carriage. While opening the door of the carriage the Russian Ambassador was approached by the steward, who whispered something into the former's ear. The Ambassador immediately turned around to Lord — and said: "My Lord, something dreadful has happened, so the steward informs me, and your Lordship's attention will be called for a few minutes to the ante-room." Lord — acquiesced, and upon his arrival there was confronted by the steward and charged directly with the theft of small gold spoons and salt-cellars studded with diamonds.

"What!" exclaimed Lord — to the steward; "how dare you insinuate this against my person?"

In reply the steward said: "I have seen you put the gold spoons in your trousers pocket, and the salt-cellars in your dress-coat pocket. I am responsible for those costly plates; hence I watched you closely. Please hand them out of your pocket."

"Villain!" exclaimed Lord —; "search me and your falsehood will be branded, and for that insult you will pay dearly."

"I dare not," replied the steward, "put my hands on your Excellency's person; but, pray, do it yourself."

"I will," said Lord —; and, putting his hands into his pocket, so unconscious was he of his kleptomaniac propensities that he drew forth the gold spoons and salt-cellars. In a complacent manner he handed them to the steward as if nothing had happened.

"Hold!" said Count Skouvaloff; "it proves to me that your Excellency abused my hospitality as a host and committed a gross outrage on society, as well as against my person. I have to send for the police and have your Lordship arrested."

"No," replied Lord —, "do not disgrace me and my official position!"

"Well," said the Count, calculatingly, "it can only be done if your Lordship will promise on the honor of a Minister to her Majesty the Queen that you, as a Foreign Minister who has the greatest voice in the Cabinet, will oppose the sending of the English fleet to the Bosphorus in order to hamper Russia."

To this Lord — assented; and, true to his promise, he opposed the proposition of sending the fleet to the Bosphorus, and, on that account, he had to resign his office, and Lord Salisbury, the present Premier of England, was put in his place.

A Grip on Tomatoes.

The Yankee has got the grip on canned tomatoes, and even if a raw carrot is dropped into a can occasionally to fill up the consumer overlooks it on the ground of accident. American tomatoes are now sold in every country on the globe, and are as familiar in Borneo as in Chicago.

A One-Sided Discussion.

A Wisconsin court has decided that a man has a lawful right to open his wife's letters. Now, if we could get a binding judicial decision which would compel a husband to mail his wife's letters within a week after she gives them to him to post—but that would be requiring a moral impossibility.

CHINESE RETALIATION.

The Exclusion of Chinamen from the States Regarded as a Violation of the Treaty.

The Chinese Minister Threatens to Treat Americans to a Dose of Their Own Medicine.

NEW YORK, July 9.—There is some likelihood that China will not accept or ratify the proposed treaty with this country. The Mongolians do not like the Chinese exclusion clause, and it is to be roughly discussed the question of Chinese immigration in all its phases that his Excellency, Minister Tsui, has hurriedly returned here from a diplomatic visit to Spain. The Minister is accredited to Madrid and Lima, representing his country in Spain and Peru, as well as the United States.

Through Secretary Lee the Minister said his visit to Spain was in regard to the establishment of a Chinese consulate in the Philippine Islands, which have a Chinese population of 70,000. The rate of taxation imposed upon them is much higher than that exacted from other inhabitants. For both commercial and protective reasons China wishes to be represented in the islands. Minister Tsui was not able to accomplish his object, although he hopes to do so in time.

The ambassador's visit was terminated sooner than he expected by news that the laws in the United States regarding Chinese were becoming more stringent. He heard, he said, that a State law of California forbade a Chinaman from changing his residence, and that in San Francisco they were re-lega to certain quarters. This the minister regarded as a violation of the spirit of the Constitution of this government.

"This is probably a State law," said Secretary Lee, "but it goes to show that measures toward our countrymen are becoming gradually more strict, so that in time it may be impossible for a Chinaman to live here at all. In San Francisco it is reported to us that a Chinaman must always remain in the ward where he first takes up his residence; that he cannot change."

The exclusion of Chinese in the whole-sale manner which the United States has adopted the Minister regarded as a violation of the previous treaty with China, which stipulated that China was to be treated on the same basis as other governments. Just what the Chinese government will do in the event of Uncle Sam's refusal to let in the Celestials the Minister refused to say, but Secretary Lee remarked that China's commerce with the United States amounted to considerable.

NEW YORK, July 7.—A newspaper correspondent was passenger on the same boat with the Chinese Minister, and, according to his paper, had quite a long talk with the Minister, a report of which is printed this morning.

His Excellency's words are said to have been carefully translated by Mr. Lee, the official interpreter to the Chinese Legation. The Celestial diplomat is very considerably worried over recent even in this country so far as Chinese are concerned.

"Unless the United States Government repeals the law which now excludes my countrymen from this country," said the diplomat, "we shall treat Americans to a dose of their own medicine. I mean that we shall exclude citizens of the United States from the Chinese empire. We hope that we shall not be pushed to any measures of retaliation. The Chinese foreign office has sent several demands to Blaine to repeal the exclusion law. We have received no reply from him. Of course, Congress alone can set right the present outrage, but the State department is the proper channel of negotiation."

"After this exclusion act was passed in defiance of all treaties, Secretary Bayard and the former minister from China, Chang Yen Hoon, conferred, and the result was a proposed new treaty with China which contained an exclusion law. When this treaty was submitted to the Emperor and Council it was instantly repudiated. The indignation against the minister was such that his house was burned and all his property within reach destroyed."

"What is the present status of the question in China?"

"The Council of State which aids the Emperor is simply waiting to hear from the United States Foreign Office. Your reputation for fair dealing and honesty with foreign nations has been such in the past that we cannot believe you mean to break the treaty without reason or excuse. That you have done so there can be no doubt, and if we find the United States is going to persist in excluding Chinese from its shores we shall proceed to the same tactics, and the Chinese government will forbid the landing of American citizens in the empire."

"How about American citizens now residents of China and the American capital already invested there?"

"Those will be matters of detail for which the Council of State will arrange. I am aware that there are a great many millions of American capital invested in China. American interests in China are of course vastly more important financially than our invested interests in the United States. Any rupture between the two nations' will, of course, injure American investments."

"What is believed in China to be the reason for our exclusion law?"

"It is generally supposed to be the work of politicians. I know, of course, your argument about cheap labor and the destruction of far wages. You say Chinamen come to America and save all the money they can and take it home with them, and that they don't become citizens. Well, is not that exactly what every American in China is doing? The Chinese have built your great Western railroads and their cheap labor has made possible and has carried through to successful completion works and enterprises which would be impossible with other labor. The Chinese are satisfied with small wages, and do not strike. When they are driven out, the capitalist will be at the mercy of other foreign laborers, who will not work so cheap and will combine and strike and jeopardize capital. Chinese cheap labor has been tried in various parts of the world and has always been a success."

Chinese cheap labor has been tried in various parts of the world and has always been a success."

AT HIS OWN WAKE.

Sailor Mike Costlow Surprises the Mourner at His Home.

"A funny thing happened some years ago," said a fisherman to a Boston Globe reporter, "and if you have time to listen I'll spin a yarn which you can put down for gospel truth."

"It was the second year after the schooner Flying Eagle was built, and I was one of her crew. That was in the latter part of the 60's. At that time all the boats that supplied the Boston market with fresh fish made their catch on the shore, as we termed it, that is, near the land."

"As I said, I was one of the Eagle's crew, and one day we were fishing on the northeast part of the Middle bank and one of our dories, containing Mike Costlow and John Rafford, missed the vessel during the heavy snow-storm that set in while we were hauling trawls."

"After searching for them all the afternoon we gave it up."

"Costlow belonged to this port, and the women folks kicked up a terrible time when they heard the bad news, and the only consolation we could offer was that they might be picked up by a passing vessel."

"Well, for three weeks the neighbors and relatives waited anxiously for the sea to give up its dead or their friends' return, and as neither was the result of their wait they decided to have a first-class wake. Costlow's folks lived on Battery street, and his best suit of clothes was taken down from the peg in the closet and stuffed with hay."

"After all was ready the neighbors came in to view the dummy that was stretched on the table and bewail his loss."

"After the farce had been carried on for some time a heavy step was heard on the stairs and then a stumble."

"Well," said I, "pon my word, who-over he is he's in luck, 'cause he's stumbling upstairs."

"The crying went on for some time, then all of a sudden there was a loud knock at the door."

"Arrah! Who can this be that comes knocking at a wake-house door?" cried an old lady, but before she could receive an answer in walked Costlow as large as life."

"What's this?" said Costlow. "Is it me or my step-husband?" and fetching a kick at the dummy he destroyed the whole outfit in short notice."

"Give us a cup of tea," said he, "and none of this fooling. It's no way to welcome a man home after being away three weeks on board a vessel where there was nothing to eat but the masts."

"After awhile one person said: 'It is Mike, I believe.'"

"Of course it is," said he, "and if I thought I would look any thing like the stuffed corpse in the corner the devil a die I'd ever want to die on this earth."

"He then explained that he and his chum were picked up by a German bark and during the heavy northwest gale that came the next day they were driven to sea and their sails blown away. After repairs were made they again headed toward Boston, but were again blown off the coast; then they were favored by fair winds and arrived in port in a dilapidated condition."

"After he landed he made his way to the house, and, seeing crape on the door, asked some people who was dead; and being informed that it was himself, proposed to quietly put in an appearance."

"You know the rest. But I am sorry to say that poor Mike was lost on Georges a few years ago, when the schooner Paul Revere went down with all hands during a heavy winter gale."

JEFFERSON'S GRANDCHILD
Living in Humble Circumstances and Refused a Pension.

In Georgetown, D. C., in a humble cottage which rents for twenty dollars a month, lives the only surviving grandchild of Thomas Jefferson, says the New York Sun. Her name is Mrs. Septimia Randolph Meikleham, widow of David S. Meikleham, long since dead. She is in her seventy-sixth year, a cultured, amiable, venerable old lady, with two daughters and one son in her household. A luxuriant growth of curly, silvery-white hair surrounds her face, which bears a striking resemblance to that of her illustrious grandfather. Her descent from him is direct and clear. Born January 3, 1814, under her grandfather's roof at Monticello, Va., she is the daughter of Jefferson's favorite child and housekeeper, Martha, who married Thomas Mann Randolph, Jr., afterward Governor of Virginia, by whom she bore twelve children, all of whom are dead except the eleventh child and seventh daughter, the present Mrs. Meikleham, the only living representative of Jefferson of two removes since her sister, Virginia Jefferson Randolph Trist, died in 1882. Mrs. Meikleham is infirm by reason of advanced age. Her son, a man of artistic temperament, now in middle life, earns scarcely enough for self-support. Of her two daughters, both of whom are middle-aged, the younger, Miss Esther A. Meikleham, born while her parents were sojourning in Scotland, is employed in the Patent Office as a clerk at a salary of $1,000 a year, while the other has charge of the housekeeping. Repeated attempts by influential legislators to secure for Mrs. Meikleham a moderate pension have resulted only in failure. In the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses Representative W. E. Robinson, of New York, introduced a bill to pay her $5,000 a year, subsequently amended to $2,500. Congress, however, refused to pass the measure on the ground that its enactment would set a dangerous precedent for other claims less meritorious for civil pensions.

Inventors frequently find themselves in a pit-fall dug for their class by swindlers who issue impressive circulars and profess to have extraordinary facilities at Washington for getting patents. The only extraordinary facilities the rascals have are for grabbing the money of their victims and eluding the police by cropping up under a new company name the moment the old one becomes too notorious.

THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

PORT CRESCENT.

A FEW UNDENIABLE FACTS:

President T. F. Oakes says the Victoria, Port Crescent and Chehalis Railway will be completed by the 31st December, 1891. This will make Port Crescent the terminus of the strongest corporation on the American Continent. Work on the breakwater will commence immediately and will be completed during next year; the Harbor will then accommodate 120 ships, allowing one cable (see Minard on Harbors) to each large merchant vessel in which to swing, not including twice that number which might be tied up to wharves. Port Crescent will then be possessed of one of the best harbors on the coast.

The soundings on the Company's Map are guaranteed to be correct.

More than 3,000,000 acres of the richest land in the State of Washington, lying to the West and Southwest, are directly tributary to Port Crescent.

It is confidently predicted that in ten years the population of Port Crescent will rival that of Tacoma and Seattle combined.

We strongly recommend to our friends and the public generally the advisability of securing a few lots at present prices. Lots, that to-day can be bought for hundreds, will be worth in a few months as many thousands. We have a limited number of choice lots at present on sale.

One Hundred Millions of Bank Notes to be Issued—Gold Quoted at 202.

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—The president of the Argentine Republic has authorized the issuance of bank notes to the amount of $100,000,000, for the purpose of relieving the financial situation. The rejection of the proposed sterling loan has caused great excitement on the Bourse. The premium on gold has advanced to 20 1/2 per cent.

LONDON, July 9.—The London agent of the National Bank of Uruguay has received a cable from Montevideo stating that a law suspending the conversion notes of the national bank for a maximum period of six months has been decreed. The government guarantees payment of the notes of the bank and government debts, all of which are payable in gold. Emission of bank notes will be limited to $12,500,000 and will be guaranteed by the proper officials to-day. This emission will be received everywhere the same as gold. The dispatch further states that absolute confidence prevails in money circles.

MONTVIDEO, July 9.—The run on the bank continues.

THE BURTSELL CASE.

The Decision Rendered by the Pope Fully Sustaining Archbishop Corrigan.

A Popular New York Priest Who Will be Transferred to a Small Country Parish.

ROME, July 6.—To-day, the Pope personally ratified the sentence of the Propaganda condemning Rev. Dr. Burtzell to obey the order of Archbishop Corrigan, transferring him from New York to a country parish. When Archbishop Corrigan arrived at Rome the officials of the Propaganda told him that Dr. Burtzell was bound to obey his orders, and that the case was exclusively within the archbishop's jurisdiction. Archbishop Corrigan then declared that he would prefer to have Dr. Burtzell's appeal recognized in Rome, with the right of the appellant to argue his case fully and frankly, so that the McEllynn case might be finally closed and beyond hope of resurrection with the Pope's own decision sealing it.

The Propaganda then sent an ultimatum to Dr. Burtzell declaring that if he would make a full submission to Archbishop Corrigan, the Archbishop would forgive and forget. If he persisted in his resistance the Propaganda would consider all his arguments, but warned him frankly that there was little hope for him in appeal.

Dr. Burtzell replied by forwarding his appeal, and the Propaganda has rarely considered an appeal in modern times with such care. The matter seemed so grave that the Pope himself went over the whole case. Dr. Burtzell, in a certain sense, at this time stands where McEllynn did when he received orders from the Pope after rebelling against the Archbishop.

FEELING IN NEW YORK. New York, July 6.—News of the removal of Dr. Burtzell from the pastorate of the Church of the Epiphany cannot fail to produce a sensation amongst the Roman Catholics of New York generally, and especially among members of Dr. Burtzell's church. The reverend doctor has been pastor of the church for about twenty-three years, and is personally known to almost every member of the congregation. He has a world-wide reputation as an ecclesiastical scholar, and it was generally believed in his parish that in any contest he might enter with the Archbishop he was sure to come off victorious.

It is hard to find any one in the parish who is not in sympathy with the pastor, but it is too early yet to say whether there will be an open revolt. One thing, however, is very certain. The removal has caused no end of dissatisfaction in the parish, and the action of the Archbishop is meeting with anything but a favorable reception.

Dr. Henry Cary was one of Dr. McEllynn's warmest supporters in his fight against Archbishop Corrigan, and he is now one of the most active members of the Anti-Poverty society. He was very much surprised when he learned that Dr. Burtzell had met with defeat at Rome. He spoke very freely upon the subject. "If the Pope has removed Dr. Burtzell," said Dr. Cary, "he has struck a very serious blow at the Catholic religion in New York, where Dr. Burtzell is known and loved by all. He virtually says to the world that Archbishop Corrigan is the Catholic dictator of America, and any priest or layman, no matter how superior his attainments may be, must humbly bow to the will of the Archbishop."
